

Qwest OneFlex Integrated Office Productivity Package: Your First Step to IP Integration

Product Promotion

OneFlex® Integrated Access is the cornerstone of Qwest® Integrated Office – a suite of solutions that dynamically allocates voice bandwidth to build a solid, stable communications foundation. Available in two solution sets: Productivity and Security, Qwest Integrated Office grows with your expanding business needs and provides a competitive edge to help you succeed in the marketplace.

The OneFlex Integrated Office Productivity Package is a base-level, 1-, 2- or 3-year contract offer of time-saving services and communications tools that enable you to do more with less and maximize your employee productivity, whether you have a single or multi-location business. The Productivity Package includes:

- OneFlex Integrated Access, a T-1 circuit that can be used to transfer data, access the Internet and have real-time, two-way local and long-distance voice calls via the Internet Protocol (IP) Network.
- Qwest-supplied rental of Integrated Access Device (IAD).*
- On-Site Standard Next Business Day Maintenance of the IAD.

*Additional rental MRC charge for certain IAD models.

Boost your productivity

The OneFlex Integrated Access Productivity Package is just one way you can significantly boost your company's performance – inside and out. Whether you want to enhance your internal data handling or decrease customer response time, our Productivity Package is equipped to:

- Increase employee efficiency by providing fast access to key business data.
- Keep all offices on the same page, at the same time, helping build strong relationships with suppliers and customers.
- Save money with more efficient use of technology.

Custom, scalable solutions that fit your business

With Qwest, you will have data, IP, local, long distance and international voice services – all from one provider, on a single invoice. Choose from several flexible-term contract options and further customize the service based on the number of voice lines you require. Plus, OneFlex Integrated Access allows you to transition from standard telephone service to Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) without the need to replace your current telephony equipment; putting your business on the foundation for the future of communications services.
